Transfer to IU Bloomington

If you're not attending another IU campus and have completed at least 12 semester hours of college coursework after graduating from high school, you're eligible to apply as a transfer student.

Admission requirements

Students enrolled at an accredited, two- or four-year college or university and meet published eligibility requirements will be guaranteed admission to the IU Bloomington campus. Once admitted, students have the opportunity to pursue and complete the admission requirements for their preferred academic program.

Cumulative grade point average (GPA)

Indiana residents: minimum college cumulative GPA of 2.3 on a 4.0 scale

Nonresidents: minimum college cumulative GPA of 2.5 on a 4.0 scale

Transfer Single Articulation Pathways (TSAP)

If you have completed or will complete one of the Transfer Single Articulation Pathway (TSAP) degrees at either Ivy Tech Community College, Vincennes University, or another Guaranteed Admission Agreement with Ivy Tech Community College prior to enrolling at Indiana University, you may wish to apply to the corresponding degree program at IU Bloomington. To learn more about the Guaranteed Admission Agreements, visit go.iu.edu/transfer-credit.

You'll receive a decision within four to eight weeks after application documents are received.

TRANSFERRING CREDITS

cts.admissions.indiana.edu ★

We know it can be tough to navigate how to transfer credits, and we're here to help.

- Only courses in which you receive a grade of C or higher will transfer. (You may transfer credits to IU, but the grades you earned at your other school[s] will not be counted in your IU GPA.)
- Coursework must be completed at a regionally accredited institution to transfer.
- If you attended a community or junior college, up to two years (64 semester hours) of transfer credit can be applied.
- Individual schools and departments at IU determine if and how transfer credits will apply toward your degree requirements.
- Veterans may earn college credit for educational experiences in the armed services.
- Domestic students with international credit documents, please contact the Office of Admissions. International students should contact the Office of International Services.

TRANSFER REQUIREMENTS

When you apply, be sure to review the transfer information on your school's website, as some schools have special requirements or policies. IU Bloomington has two track options for transfer admissions:

- Direct Admission: Some of IU's schools and colleges offer immediate entry into their programs. Learn more about which schools offer direct admission: go.iu.edu/direct-admission.
- University Division (IU's central advising office) ud.indiana.edu: Complete the general requirements needed to certify into a degree-granting school or college.

LUCAS CHIN

wanted to try new things.

Lucas began his college education in his home country of Malaysia, in a program designed for students who wanted to transfer to an American university. He chose IU for its range of strong academic programs.

Here he designed an individualized major in textiles, marketing, and psychology—preparing him to work in his family's textile business. Lucas also joined several clubs and found a group of friends that do everything from taekwondo to weekly dinners together. "You won't regret coming here," Lucas said.

YOUR TRANSFER CREDIT REPORT

If admitted, you will be able to access your detailed Transfer Credit Report approximately two to three weeks after admission. This report will list all courses taken at other institutions, indicate whether each course will transfer, and note the equivalent course at IU Bloomington for which you'll receive credit.

To view your Transfer Credit Report:

- Log in to One.IU at one.iu.edu.
- Enter "transfer credits" into the search box at the top and select the "Transfer Credits" app box.

Log in using your IU username and passphrase to see how your coursework from another college or university transferred to IU.

To view iGPS degree map, which outlines a path for completing your degree, log in to one.iu.edu and search "degree map search (public)."

How credits count

When credits are accepted for transfer to IU Bloomington, there are two ways they count in relation to specific major and degree requirements.

Courses may transfer to IU as:

Distributed credit:

- You receive credit for a specific IU Bloomington course.
- May fulfill General Education (GenEd) credits and/or major requirements.

Undistributed credit:

- You've taken a course that isn't equivalent to a specific IU course, and credits may be granted in corresponding IU department.
- Doesn't count as a specific course, but counts towards total credit count.
- How your undistributed credits fulfill degree requirements will vary by degree. You can have your course syllabus reviewed to potentially have your undistributed credit updated to a specific IU course number.

ENROLLING

admissions.indiana.edu/enroll ★

If you've been admitted to IU Bloomington, there are a number of things you need to do to become a Hoosier—follow these steps to make sure you've got everything covered.

- ✓ Set up your IU computing and email accounts at one.iu.edu and search for and select "Create My First IU Account."
- ✓ Declare your intent to enroll (fall and spring students only)—or you won't be able to register for classes: intenttoenroll.indiana.edu.
- ✓ Sign up for required New Student Orientation: fye.indiana.edu.

All degree-seeking students at IU Bloomington are required to complete the campus-wide GenEd program prior to graduating with a bachelor's degree. For a list of all IU courses that count toward the GenEd requirement go to gened.indiana.edu.

To determine which courses at your current institution are equivalents of IU GenEd courses, use the Credit Transfer Service cts.admissions.indiana.edu.

In addition to GenEd requirements, students must complete all required courses for their degree programs in order to graduate with a bachelor's degree. Each school publishes a bulletin that lists these requirements: bulletins.iu.edu/iub.

KYLE PARRY

wanted more opportunities.

After a year at a small, private university, Kyle transferred to IU. Even though IU felt like home—he had gone to IU sporting events since he was a kid—he struggled a bit until his career coach helped him get involved on campus.

Now he's a campus tour guide and also serves as one of just five students who lead the large team that runs IU's New Student Orientation. He's also starting an organization for students with speech impediments. "Don't be scared of IU's size," Kyle said. "With the size comes so many opportunities."

MAXIMIZING YOUR SUCCESS

Connect to our Bloomington campus. There are many resources where you can get help, find answers to your questions, and learn about life on campus. Use these resources regularly to maximize your well-being and success. And don't forget to visit admissions.indiana.edu/life to learn about student involvement, campus traditions, and more.

Academic Advising

go.iu.edu/academic-resources

Your academic advisor will guide you throughout your IU journey. Your advisor is a gateway to all the resources at IU, and you should meet with them at least once per semester. Students who meet regularly with their advisors and instructors earn higher grades, find more opportunities in college, and are more likely to meet their graduation goals.

Academic Support Center

academicsupport.indiana.edu

With locations across campus, the Academic Support Center provides tutoring, academic advising, and workshops to ensure students have the tools for academic success.

Career Development Services

cdc.indiana.edu

The Career Development Center helps students choose the best career path for them, beginning in their first year on campus. From there, students can take advantage of the specialized career centers and advisors based in the schools and colleges.

Center for Veteran and Military Students

go.iu.edu/veteran-services

The Center for Veteran and Military Students helps support students' academic success from day one to graduation. The center can help students use their Veterans Education Benefits and ease their transition from the military to campus life.

Child Care

childcare.indiana.edu

Early Childhood Education Services coordinates three child care centers that provide quality child care and education for children of IU faculty, staff, and students. Enrollment is on a first-come, first-served basis.

Counseling and Psychological Services (CAPS)

healthcenter.indiana.edu/counseling

Located in the IU Health Center, CAPS provides mental health services for students and workshops on topics such as stress management. Services range from assistance with serious mental health crises to support for students who just want to discuss their problems with someone they can trust.

Disability Services

go.iu.edu/disability-services

The Office of Disability Services for Students (DSS) specializes in helping students with various disabilities—including physical, psychological, learning, neurological, medical, vision, hearing, and temporary impairments—to achieve their goals. DSS is centrally located at the Herman B Wells Library.

Health Professions and Prelaw Center

hpplc.indiana.edu

The HPPLC works to assist students interested in pursuing careers in law, medicine, and other health professions.

Health Services

healthcenter.indiana.edu

The Student Health Center is centrally located on IU Bloomington's campus. The center is equipped with a medical clinic, lab and X-ray facility, women's clinic, pharmacy, and mental health and wellness center.

Housing

go.iu.edu/off-campus-living

IU offers a list of resources to support transfer students in off-campus living, including links to Bloomington's utility services that allow you to pay online.

Shuttle Service

go.iu.edu/maps-directions-parking

GO Express Travel shuttle service runs between the Indianapolis International Airport and Bloomington. The shuttles operate throughout the day and pick up at a variety of locations on campus.

Supplemental Academic Resources

go.iu.edu/academic-resources

IU offers a variety of other academic services to help all students thrive, including the Assistive Technology and Accessibility Centers, the Math Learning Center, and Writing Tutorial Services.

Transportation and Parking

parking.indiana.edu

While all students can have cars on campus, both the Campus Bus and the Bloomington Transit bus service are free with an IU ID. IU also offers safety escort services and a Motorist Assistance program.
